

Todd & Weld LLP

Labor Arbitration/Discipline and Discharge

Todd & Weld represents management in labor arbitrations involving discipline and discharge at the American Arbitration Association pursuant to collective bargaining agreements. Our attorneys have tried several discipline and discharge cases on behalf of numerous clients, including non-profit organizations and corporations.

We also counsel management on disciplinary matters before discipline is implemented. We have also represented management on matters before the National Labor Relations Board, including claims of unfair bargaining practices, Weingarten rights, and other labor issues.

Related Practices

- Employment Law and Litigation
- Employment Class Actions
- Internal Workplace Investigations/Employment Counseling
- Whistleblower/Qui Tam Cases
- Employment Agreements/Separation Agreements/Noncompetition Litigation
- Wage and Hour, Independent Contractor, and Commission Claims
- Discrimination, Harassment, and Retaliation

Results

- Arbitrator rules school committee failed to justify termination of school superintendent, awards substantial lost wages and benefits