

Todd & Weld LLP

Professional Liability Litigation

For decades professionals whose reputation and livelihood are on the line have turned to Todd & Weld for sound advice and aggressive representation.

Backed by years of experience our lawyers litigate claims on behalf of and against a wide range of licensed professionals – including attorneys, health care practitioners, and accountants.

We have represented prominent lawyers and some of the largest law firms in Boston in professional malpractice claims and in disciplinary proceedings before the Massachusetts Board of Bar Overseers. Medical professionals facing challenges to their licenses and accreditation regularly turn to our Health Law attorneys to represent them before the various licensing boards in Massachusetts, including the Board of Registration in Medicine. Our lawyers have counseled accountants and other professionals in negligence claims and before various licensing boards.

We also assist clients pursuing negligence and other claims against professional service providers. When a lawyer, medical provider, accountant, or other professional breaches their client's trust, the client often turns to Todd & Weld to help right the wrong. Whether taking the client's case to trial or reaching a settlement on favorable terms, we deploy the skills and expertise needed to help clients recover their professional liability losses.

Attorneys

- Joseph M. Cacace
- Paul Cirel
- Howard M. Cooper

- Ingrid S. Martin
- Christopher R. O'Hara
- Seth J. Robbins
- Max D. Stern
- J. Owen Todd
- Josh L. Launer