

Todd & Weld LLP

White-Collar Criminal Defense

Corporate executives, health care directors, physicians, public officials, financial advisers, and other professionals alleged to have committed fraud, financial transgressions, or other white-collar crimes routinely rely on the assistance and advice of our attorneys. We rigorously defend clients facing government enforcement actions and federal and state prosecutions, often avoiding indictment, trial, and unfavorable publicity. When a case goes to court, our trial attorneys have the skills and experience needed to prevail and obtain a not guilty verdict.

Related Practices

- Government Investigations and Criminal Defense
- Government Investigations
- Criminal Defense
- School and University Disciplinary and Due Process Litigation
- Health Care Litigation